Revival Services Close Sunday Night.

The union revival services closed at the Methodist church last Sunday night, after day and night services for two weeks. Dr. E. G. B. Mann proved a most effective preacher, and endeared himself to all our people. In his labors he had the assistance of every local minister, and the members of all churches, resulting in arousing the greatest interest ever known here, with about one hundred and twenty-five conversions. About seventy-five members were received by the various churches last Sunday, fifty-seven joining the Methodist church. There will be other additions to the churches. The united choir, under the direction of Mr. W. B. Vates, was the largest and best that has been secured, and aided greatly in the work. There has been vast and general gain along spiritual lines, and every home in town and nearby has been blessed.

The mornings of the 9th and 10th, were the coldest for those dates known here in many years, with the mercury registering from 6 to 8 degrees below freezing, with heavy frosts, and the ground was frozen, and a skin of ice everywhere.

"Go to Sunday School" Day.

The Sunday schools of Kentucky will observe May 3 as "Go-to-Sunday-school Day." Services of a similar nature will be held in practically every Sunday school of the State on the day. Arrangements for the day are being made by the Kentucky Sunday School Association, of which C. F. Huhlein, of Louisville, is president. The purpose of the special day is to arouse greater interest in the work which is being accomplished, and it is probable that it will be observed every year. The movement is the first of its kind ever conducted by an entire State. It is estimated that there are about 4,000 Sunday schools in the State which will observe the occasion.

Preparations for Corn Planting.

As it is now almost time to plant corn, farmers are almost sure to get in a hurry and fail to prepare land properly. Let us be very careful. If we expect to gather a good crop, let us prepare our land well. Let us first disk the land and then plow about an inch deeper than we did last spring. We should disk first because that will give us a deep and loose seed bed by disking before you plow you will pulverize all of the land that you turn over, and made it much easier to pulverize and get in good condition for planting. Of course this is some extra work just now, but we will gain it all back before we get through cultivating our crop. And really if you have not tried disking before plowing you will be very much surprised when you get to plowing, it will be so much easier on you and your team that you will wonder why you did not think of this and do it long ago.

One of the things most needed to make a good crop of corn is to prepare your land well before you plant, and you can best do this in the above described way. Now some one will want to know why we should plow our land deeper than we did last year, and these are the reasons: First, to turn up some of the plant food which is down in the clay, which when brought to the surface will become available and be a direct fertilizer to your crops. This clay will supply you with all the potash that you will need for one or two years. Second by plowing deep you will deepen your soil, or in other words your soil will be just as deep as you plow, and besides this your land will hold more moisture when you have deep and loose seed bed, and it certainly will not wash half so bad, because you have so much more loose earth to hold the water when we have heavy rains. The land being loose will let the water go right down and not run off like it would if it had not been plowed deep.

I will write on cultivation later.

We Have Influx of Tramps.

The spring weather has brought quite an influx of tramps here the past few weeks. Those men are leaving their winter homes in the south and making way to the north. The deaf mute plea appears to be the strongest, and two unfortunates (?) of that class appeared here in one week. These two men work together in larger places, from reports made by traveling men who have seen them, but they split up to drain the smaller towns, evidently repeating when reports from the first visit indicate good picking. These fellows are as husky as anyone, but are not easily put off. They are persistent and insolent, and one man who offered pay for work, was insulted, almost. These fellows do not want work, but support, and it is estimated that one fellow picked up at least $50 here in one day's canvass. If he could not get money he would take pencils, tablets cigarettes or any old thing. It is a good thing to help the deservedly unfortunate, but there should be an ordinance passed prohibiting the soliciting of alms by strangers until they had appeared before the chief of police and convinced him that matters were straight. It would pay the business men to offer to send a telegram to some supposed relative, somewhere, and see if there were such conditions as are claimed.

A BUSINESS MAN OF MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis is a city where they do things. Stimulated by a vigorous climate, surrounded by a fertile country, peopled by the best blood of the over crowded east, it is a city of hustlers, of great achievements conceived and wrought out.

Mr. Taylor, of Minneapolis, Minn., is one of this sort of men. A newspaper man. A political worker. An Englishman by birth. He has been in this country nineteen years. He has resided in the northwest, Winnipeg, Fargo and for the last ten years in Minneapolis.

Mr. Taylor is a friend of Peruna and does not conceal his friendship. He is thoroughly enthused with the belief that Peruna is a great remedy. He has a right to feel so. For several years he suffered with dyspepsia. This caused him to have very bad health.

Newspaper advertisements would never have influenced him to take Peruna. It was friends that persuaded him to try the remedy. In less than a week he needed no more persuasion. He saw that Peruna was doing him good. He is able to say in a letter to the Peruna Company:

MR. E. M. TAYLOR, No. 250 Nicollet St., Minneapolis, Minn., says, Columbus, Ohio: "To-day I am in excellent health. Never felt better in my life. I am glad of this opportunity to say something to all men or women who suffer from dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I consider Peruna a great remedy. It is a godsend."

A new book of interest to all, sick or well, sent free by the Peruna Company.

Farmers Interest Seed Corn

Will Increase Your Yield 10 to 30 Bu. Per Acre

We care not what corn you have now, if you plant FARMERS INTEREST WHITE DENT alongside of it it will beat it 10 to 30 bushels per acre.

Farmers Interest has been bred for 18 years. Barren stalks have been eliminated, the ears grow very large and the quality is high. This variety has always won the highest honors at the great International Corn Expositions, open to the world, from the first one held in Chicago in 1907, down to and including this year, 1914.

The selection, breeding and improvement of this corn has conferred on farmers, and all the people, greater benefits than all the work of Luther Burbank, the plant wizard of California.

The least expensive and most certain way to improve a corn crop is to let others do the breeding and you buy the result at a small price per bushel. For a farmer to produce a bushel of corn like we sell him for a couple of dollars would require one work of years—worth a thousand dollars or more.

Send your name for a FREE sample and further particulars and photographs of prize winning corn are well worth seeing. Named and introduced by O. K. Seed Store, Indianapolis, Indiana. Mention THE RECORD when you write.

PUBLIC ROADS

EXPERIENCE SHOULD BE DIVIDED

Railroads Should Share With Farmers
Costs of Road and Proper Maintenance

In a large measure, the farmer is dependent upon the public roads for the transportation of his products to market. It is, therefore, of the utmost importance that these roads be maintained in the best possible condition. The farmer is the one who pays the cost of the road, and it is only fair that he should have a say in the management of it.

A Road After Grading Before Improvements. With Graded Stone in Town of Edison, Spick County, Missouri.

In consideration of the fact that the farmer is the one who pays the cost of the road, it is only fair that he should have a say in the management of it. The farmer is the one who pays the cost of the road, and it is only fair that he should have a say in the management of it.

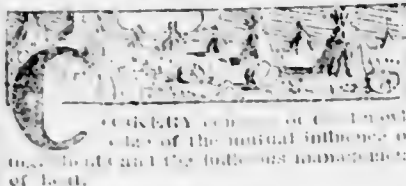

There are the farmers who are the backbone of the country. They are the ones who produce the food that we eat. It is only fair that they should have a say in the management of the roads that they use to transport their products to market.

Some Road After Macadamizing.

only one possible to build for the small traffic that will at first come to it, but as the traffic increases to the physical condition of the road is correspondingly improved to meet the requirements. The highways in the central west do not meet the needs of the people, but the people do not always realize this. We are too apt to get along with what we have, without looking to getting something better. One of the things about this whole road movement is that one state will have a large amount of splendid roads and the adjoining state few, if any. Indiana and Illinois are notable instances of this. Nearly 10 per cent. of the "Hoosier" highways are improved and most of these are splendid roads, while in Illinois the percentage is seven or eight per cent. Can anyone imagine a region why the people of Indiana can afford good roads, while their neighbors in Illinois cannot? This is an absurd situation.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

NOT SUPPER DISHES.

For those who have supper, instead of dinner, at six, a hot dish is almost an essential, on those cool autumn evenings. Soups of various kinds of food, are easily prepared and served, and furnish a substantial beginning to the meal.

Boiled Dinner Hash.—Chop fine the vegetables left from an old-fashioned boiled dinner—a beet or two a few pieces of turnip and carrot, a good sized quarter of cabbage and a few potatoes and some of the corned beef with which the dinner was cooked. Season with some of the broth and steam and cook in a frying pan for an hour on the back part of the stove. Serve hot with dill pickles and bread and butter.

Delicious Dish.—Take three veal kidneys and remove all fat; cut a small amount as fine as possible, shred and add a small amount of parsley, a little salt and a dash of pepper. Add a tablespoonful of butter to a hot frying pan and drop the kidneys into it. Cover and steam for fifteen minutes, then pour over a half cup of sour fruit juice, and serve.

Lobster in Cream Sauce.—In places where fresh lobsters are plenty, this will be a change from the usual ways of serving it. Boil the lobster in the shell, and then remove the meat and cut it in bits. Add the lobster meat to a rich white sauce, and just before serving squeeze a little lemon juice over the dish.

Sausage Omelet.—Beat five eggs until light, add a finely chopped onion, a small green one preferred; add a heaping tablespoonful of chopped meat, ham or liver sausage. Season with salt and pepper and put into a hot omelet pan.

English Tea Cakes.—Beat two eggs and add a cup of powdered sugar, beat well, add a half teaspoon of almond extract, a cup of flour and a teaspoonful of baking powder, mixed together, with a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Beat until smooth and then add a half cup of scalding hot milk. Bake in gem pans.

Sponge Cake.—When we consider the price of butter and the yet reasonable price of eggs, though they are soaring, a sponge cake is not an extravagant one to prepare. Five eggs, one cup of sugar, one cup of flour, a teaspoonful of baking powder, beat the whites and yolks separately, add the sugar to the whites, then the yolks and the flour. Flavor to taste and bake in an angel food pan. This makes a large cake.

WAYS OF SERVING APPLES.

Apples are one of our common and usually cheap fruits. There are so many ways of using them as desserts, salads, soups and fresh, in its natural state. An old-fashioned pudding which is well liked by nearly everybody is Baked Apples.—is delicious. Cut the apples in eighths and put them into a covered basin; put in a pinch of salt, a dash of sugar and a dash of cinnamon. Bake for hours, well covered, and serve for a filling for a layer cake.

For a filling for a layer cake there is nothing more delicious than a puree of apples. Grate apples added to an egg white and sugar beaten until stiff. Flavor with three drops of almond extract.

Stuffed baked apples are also delicious. Core good sized apples and fill the centers with raisins, sugar, bits of butter and a dash of cinnamon. Bake and baste with water during the baking.

Pretty red apples hollowed out and then used as cups for salad are most attractive. A mixture of nuts, chopped apple and celery used for filling, with any kind of salad dressing desired, may be used.

Sour apples fried with onions are good; a bit of butter add, and be sure to have the fat hot when the apples and onions are put in, or they will not brown.

For Parisian apples, peel the apples and then cut them with a potato peeler into small balls. Put to cook in a rich syrup flavored with lemon juice. When tender cool and serve in sherbet glasses with the juice poured over them and a spoonful of sweetened whipped cream for a garnish.

Apples baked with rice make a most satisfying dessert, and is especially nice for the children's dessert, served with cream.

TAKE TIME TO DRESS HAIR

Arrangement of the Coiffure Means Everything Where the Ensemble is Considered.

As most women know, the manner in which the hair is dressed is of vital importance in the question of producing a fashionable or unfashionable appearance. Indeed, nothing so spoils the effect of a smart gown and hat as badly arranged tresses, while on the other hand the plainest of plain frocks or a simple blouse and skirt can look perfectly up-to-date if the wearer's head be well dressed in the prevailing style of the moment.

Hairdressing is one of the items of dress in which fashion changes more rapidly than anything else. The curls of one month are taboo the next; the chignon of one season is replaced by plaits the season following; fringes come and go, straight or curly, and waves are large or small. But whichever it is, unfortunate woman-kind no sooner has become accustomed to one way of fixing up her locks than it must be changed and a new one instituted that may or may not suit the particular taste of countenance, according to individual luck.

Young girls have the advantage over older women in the fact that their youth makes it possible for them to wear almost any style successfully provided certain soft waves can be left around the face and the general outline that is most becoming can be continued. The older woman finds it much more difficult to change her coiffure whenever the dictates of fashion demand.

This year the style of hairdressing in vogue is fortunately likely to suit the many rather than, as is so often the case, only a lucky few, the large soft waves and rolled up twist at the back of the head being on the whole far more becoming than the severe chignon or square-cut fringe of a little while ago.

Seen recently were three charming examples that the hairdressers are using extensively. Fringes are being entirely done away with, but in their place are arranged loose waves that fall on each side of the forehead and well over the ears. In fact, for the coiffure to be entirely fashionable the ears should be hidden altogether, but this line does not suit the contours of all faces.

GAY COLORS IN THE SASH

Gorgeous Shadings Mark the New Designs That Have Been Put on the Market.

Very beautiful indeed are the wide sashes of gorgeous colored ribbon or thick-ribbed silk, with the colors woven in broad stripes, that have just made their appearance.

These are arranged to wind once round the waist, cross at the back and fasten in front, loosely knotted at one side.

The ends are finished with black braid scones and huge silk or chenille tassels in the same shadings as the ribbon.

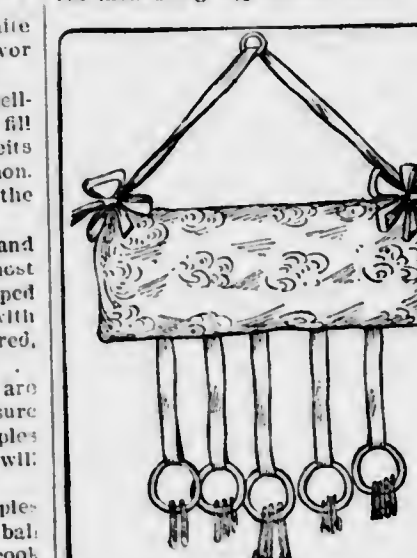

One lovely one was of blue, cerise and black striped silk finished with long, heavy tassels in the like tonings, combined with a touch of black and orange.

Some again have one tassel in all black, the other many colored, in every case the end of the silk being drawn into black braid or velvet miters.

NOVELTY IN PIN CUSHIONS

Easy to Make From Odds and Ends of Silk or Fancy Ribbon That May Be Available.

Onto a little cushion, made from any scrap of silk or fancy ribbon, measuring 4½ inches by 2½ inches, loops of narrow satin ribbon are sewn along the lower edge, five in all. The center loop is the longest one, and measures 2½ inches. The others are graduated to the sides, the two shortest measuring 1½ inches each. Into each of these loops a bone ring is slipped before it is sewn to the cushion, and into these rings safety pins of various sizes are fastened, so that they hang down and are easily detached.

Bunches composed of small loops of the same narrow ribbon adorn the two top corners, and a ribbon with a ring upon it serves to suspend this very useful little contrivance.
